KEYMACRO is an application for Windows 95, 98, Me, NT4 and 2000. It can automate the setup of your Internet Connection. KEYMACRO consists of a Program and a Dialer program. The Program is the main application. It creates the required files (sounds, logos, setup files, etc) and saves them on your floppy disk or CDROM. The Dialer program launches and starts the connection when you run the setup program. First run the program and then run the dialer program. Once the dialer starts, the program will exit and the dialogs of the dialer will appear. When the dialogs are closed, your Internet connection should have been started. The setup program will exit. In the dialer the keys are bound to the corresponding commands. If you see Setup Button is clicked with an error message, then the setup program cannot find a corresponding command. This is a common error, you should be able to solve this problem by rebooting the computer. There is no limitation to the number of Internet connections which can be configured with one program. The dialer allows you to make connections to more than 80 dialup numbers at once. Internet setup program can be distributed on floppy disk, CDROM or via Internet download. External links Official Website Download Page Category:Dial-up networking

The family of an 11-year-old boy who was shot in the back and killed in Brooklyn just blocks from his home two weeks ago filed a notice Friday demanding a grand jury investigate the case. The suit, which was filed in Brooklyn Supreme Court, also named the NYPD and the city, and accused the department of failing to properly investigate a 2005 sexual assault in which a 3-year-old girl was allegedly sodomized. On Feb. 17, a man got out of a car and fired three shots at Aion Ulysse, who was standing near his grandmother's home on Louis Armstrong Avenue near Borough Park. The boy's family said in the suit that investigators have never interviewed the possible suspects or reviewed video surveillance in the neighborhood. The state's attorney for Kings County — which includes Brooklyn — refused to comment on the suit. The NYPD had no comment. While police said the death was a result of a robbery, the family's lawyer, Steven Greenberg, said the boy was "murdered" and "crying out for help."
