The B-52 bomber has been in service for more than 50 years and is still going strong. The F-22 Raptor will probably last even longer than the B-52. B-2 may not last as long. The app will prompt users to go online to make a Skype Translator call, and let them know if the intended contact is present at the time. Once the call is connected, users can speak to their contacts through a Skype Translator call in the same language they're speaking or the language of the phone. Last month, Skype rolled out a video chat feature for Skype Translator, which allows users to call people who use the app and see them in their phone or tablet. Both features are accessible from the iOS app. The new update to Skype Translator for macOS could be a great way to make free soundless phone calls if you happen to be at an unfamiliar place, and don't have your contact details or even a Skype account for that matter.
