You are getting the number "13" printed for a reason. A: There's something going on with your data that isn't quite matching your pattern. Your first two catches: print $last, " "; print $all, " "; produce

Thanks very much! A: So after some work, I figured out the problem. The issue turned out to be that sometimes the [PCAN-USB-5000\]\system-driver.exe file is not set with the correct permissions for administrators. For some reason, the file was set with the working directory set to {userprofile}\appdata\local\temp\ as the working directory in the original directory provided via the Dropbox. You have to manually modify the file to set the correct working directory. [edited] I am, in turn, providing more details: Navigate to the following path: C:\Users\[userprofile]\AppData\Local\Temp Find a file with the following: system-driver.exe Open the file in Notepad Navigate to the following: Contents>chown. Add the following: [NT AUTHORITY\SYSTEM] Save the file as [userprofile]\system-driver.exe. Skills Not Impressed With Amanda Swoboda's Trumpism As you may have read, the Republican nominee for the Ohio Gubernatorial nomination has endorsed the legalization of Marijuana, which isn't exactly a show-stopper. There is a populist streak in these endorsements, which is most evident in the endorsement of the campaign for the Libertarian candidate, Richard Fink. The Libertarian candidate, Richard Fink is currently suspended from the Libertarian Party of Ohio. Richard Fink is a social conservative and has argued that Ohio should legalize discrimination against gay people as part of a set of practical reasons. In these endorsements, it is interesting to note that the campaigns have emphasized that they agree with each other on a set of issues, and that one of the biggest points of agreement is that Fink has done a good job of promoting their respective campaign on the internet. The list of endorsements also includes the campaigns of former State Senator and radio host, Tom Rad's campaign. Rad's campaign positions itself as an anti-Washington, pro-Ohio conservative. Tom Rad has agreed with the Republican candidate for Governor several times on the issues of marijuana and abortion. His campaign touts that Rad helped pass the Born-Alive Protection Act, the State's Child Killer Protection Act, and the nation's first "No Health Care 3e33713323
