Edgeseeker Full Product Key

What's New In Edgeseeker?

What it does: Edgeseeker is a one stop solution for accessing data from an unlimited number of online data sources, loading the data into a MySQL database and delivering it to a spreadsheet where you can perform your analysis. Edgeseeker saves you the time and trouble of having to remember to check data sources or being "moved" to new and different ones each time a source is closed. You can use Edgeseeker with any data source that returns delimited data, including the popular data sources listed below. Edgeseeker also allows you to download data from almost any RSS (Really Simple Syndication) service. What it doesn't do: The Edgeseeker data source database uses an MDB3 (MySQL Database 3) format that's different than most other databases. Edgeseeker does not include a Microsoft.NET development environment. As such, the data in Edgeseeker comes from a variety of sources. The Edgeseeker data source database is therefore not a complete list of data sources available. Edgeseeker is not a "refresh" solution for data.

---

Edgeseeker is a "fetch" solution for data. You must set up the data source to be accessed and that data source needs to be periodically checked for updated data. Edgeseeker requires some knowledge of MySQL and PHP.

Edgeseeker is not designed to be a financial research application. It's meant to be a data query solution.

That's what Edgeseeker excels at.

Features: Intuitive data query form, spreadsheet formula Access many popular data sources like Yahoo!

Finance, Google Finance, and others

Consolidate multiple data sources for a true cross section of a financial industry

Notes: Edgeseeker includes a built-in data source database that includes some

30 data sources. It's important to note that Edgeseeker can pull data from almost any data source that returns delimited data. There are a number of ways to do this. The one I use is to use a Java applet. You will need to download the Java applet and copy the data source database file
