Coherence in a general random medium. Using the classic Nyquist-Johnson-Kolmogorov formulation of signal processing, we describe a general theory of eigenfunctions and eigenvalues of a wave equation in a random medium. Of particular interest are random media in which the electric and magnetic fields have different correlations. Such media describe, for example, an electromagnetic wave in a thin-layer multilayer of magnetic and electric fishnet materials. We construct plane-wave eigenfunctions using the Nyquist-Johnson-Kolmogorov transform and calculate their spatial coherence. We find that despite the different correlations of the electric and magnetic fields, the coherence time due to diffraction is as long as the coherence time due to speckle. The exact two-time correlation functions of the signal and idler fields and of their sums are calculated, and the intensity correlations of the fields are also calculated. The calculations show that the field's two-time coherence is smeared over a much larger spatial region than the field's coherence due to single-scattered fields.- Why do you want me to be a representative of Jewish people? - Just that I or other Muslims should not try to change the Constitution of USA, Bill of Rights, Civil Rights Bill etc. - I already don't understand what you mean - By changing the US Constitution, the meaning of the words change. - Muslim will never do this - Don't know what you mean by this. - The word will be changed from Jew to Muslim. - The meaning of this word will change. - Why do you want me to be a representative of Jewish people? - Just that I or other Muslims should not try to change the Constitution of USA, Bill of Rights, Civil Rights Bill etc. -- Shahzad W.
