It is the most realistic football experience on any game system and is 2 times smaller than ever before. It is a beautiful game, which has the best visuals and game play features of any football video game. Powered by "HyperMotion Technology", FIFA 22 introduces "Passing Mechanics" and "Interception". The most realistic passing in a football game. Unlike ever before, players have the freedom to decide which direction they want to pass, with an infinite pass angle. Advanced passing techniques will become more important than ever before. Finer control over the direction of the pass, combined with a nimble and precise on-ball receiver makes these passes all the more impressive. FIFA 22 introduces the new "Interception" gameplay mechanic. The player uses their head to tap the ball and then their foot to control where it lands. Every part of the person's body controls the ball, including their hair and clothes. A higher standard of player control is achieved by the use of "Tackling". Tackles limit the ball's movements by stopping it dead, allowing players to intercept the ball and use their physical attributes to regain control of the ball or create a scoring opportunity. FIFA 22 introduces "Passing Mechanics". Using a real-world physics engine, players can use the instant, pinpoint accuracy of the pass to divert defenders and score a goal. Players who want to move the ball on the ground or through the air can now execute the pass with a higher level of precision. The passing mechanic was re-designed from scratch, making it easier to place the ball exactly where you want it. A new "GK Vision" system gives goalkeepers the ability to make the right decisions with pinpoint accuracy. The ratings which the player gets from this year are also increased and will include a new "Style" attribute, which gives out ratings for an individual's actions off the ball, such as a corner taken, a pass accuracy, a dribble, a shot accuracy and more. It gives feedback about the player's skills in dribbling and shooting, assists and other aspects. This year we have redesigned the entire "Style" attribute from the player's movement to the position he plays on the field. FIFA 22 introduces the FIFA Player Academy. This system is a special cabinet inside the game that allows players to play custom made training
