Sight Words Sentence Builder Serial Key is an application that helps students memorize words in context, by allowing them to create sentences and replay them. With this game, the player can practice listening and making meaning out of sight words in sentences. For example: If the player is given the word “disgusting,” they would have to assemble the following sentence: “The smell of rotten meat is disgusting.” The game comes with 45 high frequency, easy to pronounce, high-frequency sight words, including nouns, verbs and prepositions. The purpose of this app is not to be a lesson in sight words, nor is it an assessment tool. Rather, it is used as a way to keep a child motivated and to engage him or her in a fun and entertaining activity. The sentences are not organized by type. Rather, the player is given a list of words, and they assemble the sentences on their own. With a word, they must create a sentence. The words are repeated, and the longer the child can complete the sentence and maintain an attention to detail, the greater the reward. The words are organized alphabetically by first letter, which is helpful for organizing the database. Likewise, the game comes with two versions: user-friendly (colorful) for younger children and user-friendly (simple) for older children. The sounds are also in context, so the game can be played either just listening or hearing and interpreting. Each sentence is limited to one or two words and one verb, and the player must complete the list within a time limit. The list of words is random. Each app play starts with a new list of words, meaning you can play the game again and again. You can record your scores and review them for improvement. This game is appropriate for children learning to read as well as for those who have already mastered sight words in other contexts.
