I need the view for the submitted Question to be public (HTML View only) but not able to do this. How can I accomplish this? A: Does this work for you? @using @Html.BeginForm() { @Html.AntForgeryToken() @Html.ValidationSummary() Question @Html.HiddenFor(m => m.Question) @Html.EditorFor(m => m.Question) } O: Call POST method from javascript in flash frame I would like to call POST method from javascript code in flash frame. Is there any way to do it? I have an hit method, which invoked on load. What I need is to call http post method which creates some data and send it via post to the server. Is it possible? A: It's not possible. If you can use AJAX, try POSTing to a hidden iframe, and have javascript open up a data url to the serverlet that will load the page and display the results. There will be a flash object that's blocking your current page from loading. I have a DataSnap Server with all the components (XS, DSP, DTO, SRS, etc.) working. However, I do not know how to connect to this server from my application. From looking at the documentation, I can see that there is a Class called ConnectionManager. I have created a connection to the server with the following code (I have typed out the namespace in my answer): using System; using System.Collections.Generic; using System.Linq; using System.Text; using System.Collections; using System.Runtime.Serialization; using DS.XS; using DS.DSP; using DS.DTO; using DS.SRS; using DS.Server; namespace Stuff { class MySerializer { public void Serialize(DS.DTO.MyClass x) { XS.XSClient cl = new XS.XSClient(); DS.ConnectionManager conn = new DS.ConnectionManager(cl); cl.Connect(); int hi = 1; } } } However, when I run this, I get an error that says "An exception Occ13bf012
