thrombotic occlusion in the canine model. The aim of this study was to determine the efficacy of the cytosolic phospholipase A(2) (cPLA(2)) inhibitor WY-14643 in preventing coronary thrombosis. Myocardial ischemia was induced by a 30-minute coronary artery occlusion followed by 6 hours of reperfusion in 19 anesthetized open chest dogs. WY-14643 (100 mg/kg bolus plus 1 mg.kg(-1).min(-1) infusion) was administered before the occlusion. Acute myocardial infarction (AMI) was assessed by serial electrocardiographic examinations and measurement of the creatine phosphokinase activity in coronary arterial blood. WY-14643 attenuated the incidence of AMI by decreasing and recovery of the contractile function. The lesion size was closely correlated with myocardial cPLA(2) activity. WY-14643 has a protective effect against coronary thrombotic occlusion and, therefore, may be useful in preventing ischemic heart disease.Virus Tires Engine Airbag Driver Side Chevrolet Corvette Stingray V-8 with Electronic throttle control, engine starts and idles flawlessly.
