It's working fine when I run the application on But I want to host it on Firebase Hosting does not allow me to serve static files. How can I solve it? A: Firebase Hosting supports serving static files of dynamic paths. It's enabled by default, so on Firebase hosting you'll have to either: Add a target to the static files configuration of your angular app by appending the following to the src/index.html file: Add a script src/index.html when you open the page For example: Example {{ data }} index.html Example Note that index is only contains the line. If you look carefully the solutions above (and others) describe how to render a pre-built view (in your case the Angular6 app in your firebase hosting). If what you need is to render the Angular app (or any other html)
